
The town of Waverly has a population of 1,603 and is the county seat of Pike County. It has no industries of any consequence. It is served by the D T & I and N & W. The two roads have reciprocal switching arrangements.

The crossing of the D T & I and N & W, south of Waverly, is called Glen Jean and is within the same switching district. The interchange tracks are rather poorly laid out and should be rearranged if any large number of cars is to be interchanged here. The tracks now hold 156 cars. The crossing is protected by a full mechanical interlocker.

The traffic handled at Waverly and Glen Jean in 1930 follows:

	Rec'd	Forw'd	From N&W	To N&W
F	0	0	598	2400
O	433	162	2492	2962
T	433	162	3090	5362

There are water facilities at Glen Jean, and engines can turn on a wye formed by the interchange tracks.
